Trip to the museum

The big event this week for our school was when we went to the National Museum of Scotland on Thursday. This fantastic museum also delivered a special workshop for our older children about Ancient Egypt. The younger children did a special trail through the museum to support their learning in history and science. Trips like this help bring what we are teaching in school to life and create memories. We are following up on their learning at the museum in school and talking in much greater detail about what they have seen and found out on their trip.

Online learning to help you support your child's emotional well being

Northumberland Local Authority have let us know that Togetherness (originally known as Solihull) are delighted to share some free, helpful resources for parents experiencing all the big emotions of growing children.

Togetherness is the NHS emotional health digital learning hub funded in your area. Families have free access to expert learning about childhood development, wellbeing, brain changes, and much more to help to connect with children. Enrichment

As you know, we have clubs after school every day. We have Commando Joe's on Mondays and PE on Wednesday - both led by Mr Graham. On Tuesdays we are lucky to have Olive lead our art club. On Thursdays we have film club and on Fridays we have lego club. All our clubs are free to the main school children and run 3pm - 4pm. Our school trips are also free as we pay for them out of our school fundraising events.

Dates for your diary
